School Holiday and After School Activities

Participate Australia provides a range of school holiday and after school activities to support an individual child or a small group of children. These activities are designed to be meaningful and engaging, while also teaching life skills, such as using public transport, independently ordering meals and money handling skills.

Activities are run from a centre or in the community where we support a group of children on excursions. Excursions are recreational outings to venues, such as the movies, the zoo or to museums. They are based on suggestions from participants and their families and from evaluations and feedback that staff provide.

Centre based activities range from dance and sporting activities to promote healthy lifestyles, to craft activities that promote creative thinking and practice fine motor skills.

To support your child we can provide staff with specialised training to meet their needs, including cultural preferences, working with challenging behaviours, trained in the use of equipment or the administration of medication etc.

VARIETY THROUGH CHOICE

Participate Australia has over 150 linguistically and culturally diverse, professional direct support staff on hand with a variety of skills and expertise to help you.

Our supports are available to meet your needs at a time and location of your choice; so call us now to book a meeting with one of our highly trained team to discuss your individual requirements.

PERSON CENTRED SUPPORT

Participate Australia has been committed to person centred support for people with disabilities long before it became customary.

The high standard of our work is recognised by government agencies and other providers who frequently broker our services.

We support hundreds of participants and their families in the Sydney region.

We provide more than 220,000 hours of service to our participants on an annual basis.
